[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO JAN. 23.

EASTERN STATES.

The Louisiana Imbroglio.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Gen. Emery telegraphs from New Orleans that he has troops in readiness to preserve order. It is understood he has been instructed to prevent the pillage of public and private property, but not further to interfere without instructions.

The investigating committee start for New Orleans next Wednesday.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 22.—General Emery to-day sent copies of the following dispatch to both Carter and Warmouth:

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—To Col. W. H. Emery, commanding Department of the Gulf: The President directs that you hold your troops in readiness to suppress a conflict of armed bodies of men, should such occur, and guard the public property from pillage or destruction. Keep this Department informed of your action. By order of the Secretary of War.

(Signed) E. D. TOWNSEND,
Adjutant General.

The Warmouthites have now decided that it requires fifty-four members of the House and nineteen of the Senate to constitute a quorum, thus annulling the action repealing the obnoxious laws. When Carter concluded his speech, the crowd slowly dispersed. Canal street this afternoon is unusually quiet. The action of the President in preventing a conflict seems to give general satisfaction to the citizens in view of the Congressional Committee which promises a peaceful solution of the troubles.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 22.—After announcing the contents of Emery's dispatch Carter said: "The United States troops and General Emery are used to perpetuate a measure which would drive any Northern or Western State into revolution, and which will all be unearthed when the Investigating Committee arrives." The cry, "Let's fight; we are going in anyhow," was raised. Carter replied: "Men who let passion overcome their reason would ruin any cause. I forbid those acting under my commission to keep it up, which would bring them in conflict with the veteran troops of the United States." He then ordered his men to rest on Custom House street.

The National Labor party expect 22,000 delegates to attend the Columbus Convention.

The Ways and Means Committee will report on the syndicate.

New York News.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—A large crowd of interested depositors is around Market Savings Bank, on Nassau street, but no violent acts are committed. The bank exhibit will present evidence of great knavery.

The Custom House Committee has decided to remain here another week.

NEW YORK, Jan 22.—It is rumored that the Manhattan Savings Institution has suspended.

Tweed's constituents request him to either go to the Senate or resign.

It is stated that Tweed only wants to buy two more Legislators to secure him from expulsion, and that he is waiting to obtain them.

The Police of the city propose a display to the memory of Fisk.

The grand jury had a number of prominent bank officers before them to testify relative to balances on accounts of the ring officials.

Grand Duke in Kansas.

TOPEKA, Kansas, Jan. 22.—The Grand Duke and suite arrived here this morning and were received at the depot by the Lt.-Governor and the Committee of Reception and taken to the Senate House, where the Legislature and Joint session received them. The Speaker of the House delivered an address of welcome. Alexis responded briefly and happily. Afterwards a banquet was partaken of at the hotel and the party left at 5 P. M.

Secretary Robeson, of the Navy Department has married Mrs. A. M. Lick, of Washington.

Senator John Sherman, of Ohio, some days ago received the caucus nomination in the Legislature for re-election. Doubtless he has been re elected ere this time.

The Ohio Legislature has passed a bill to admit as competent jurors, persons who may have read newspaper accounts of criminal acts, on which they proposed to sit as jurors.

The Ohio State Senate has passed a resolution approving the one-term principle for the Presidency which is advocated by Mr. Sumner, and the sore-heads and bolters rejoice thereat.

British ship builders have a large lobby at Washington charged to prevent, at any cost, any legislation that will make it possible for iron ships to be profitably built in this country.

Samuel B. Reddig, convicted of embezzlement of Government funds in 1868, while he was disbursing officer of the Patent Office, has been sentenced to confinement in jail for two years, and to pay a fine of $14,000.

A dispatch from Havana (Cuba) says: The new cemetery will receive the title of Columbus, and the remains of Columbus, which are now deposited in the Cathedral, will be transferred at some future day to it, and be placed inside a grand monument which is to erected to his memory.

A special from Washington says that Gortschakoff, Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs, has written a letter which is regarded by high officers as a direct and open insult to the President and Secretary of State, and likely to lead to serious results. The country need not be surprised if Curtin is immediately ordered to demand his passports, and the Russian Charge d'Affairs here supplied with his, in order that he may take his departure from the United States.

The will of the late Alexander Larman, of Baltimore, whose estate is valued at one and a quarter millions, contains the following bequest to charitable institutions of that city: Blind Asylum, $60,000; Baltimore Orphan Asylum, Aged Woman's home, Union Orphan Asylum, Infirmary, St. Paul's Orphan Asylum, Mount Hope Retreat, Manual Labor Society, School Boys' Home Society, Poor Association and Maryland State Bible Society, each $10,000.

A Washington special of the 13th says: Sworn statements in the Florida case have been received at the Navy Department, and they have at once been forwarded to the State Department by order of the President. A demand will be at once made in a manner which will admit of no evasion, for an explanation, apology and full satisfaction. The attitude of the Government will be unyielding in defense of the assailed honor of our flag. Minister Roberts is perfectly aware of the feeling which prevails, and has undoubtedly notified his Government that there is no evasion of either an ample apology or war.

Regulating Freights and Fares.

Recently the General Assembly of California has been considerably excited by a discussion of a bill to establish maximum rates of freights and fares on railroads in that State. The bill under consideration proposes that the highest rates charged on any railroad shall not exceed three cents per mile for passenger travel, and five cents per mile per ton for freight. The Marysville Appeal presents some judicious remarks on this subject, which we quote:

There is no doubt but that the people earnestly demand a reduction in the rates of freights and fare, nor that the present charges are unequal in many cases, to a degree that will justify to a great extent the public sentiment on this subject. But there is a proper way for the Legislature to take cognizance of this matter. One of the members in discussing this subject, has given the key note to the fight for reduction in stating that "the people have decided this matter," and that the fight is one between the people and the railroad company. But in this connection it strikes us that certain points pertinent to the issue have not been brought out. It might be asked of these zealous legislators in behalf of the people, why, if they are legislating entirely for the people, they do not propose to fix the rates of fares and freights at one cent for passengers and two cents for freight? and the answer would probably be that the railroads could not carry passengers and freights for such price. Then if they know that one and two cents for fares and freights would not pay the railroads, how do they know that three and five cents would? The merchant before selling his wares must first figure up their cost. The builder who competes for a contract for constructing a building must first ascertain the amount and value of the materials used, the costs of labor and other expenses incidental to the construction before making his bid on the aggregate price for which he will do the work. In fact, the business principles we have illustrated enter into this as into all questions of this character, and for the Legislature to act understandingly on the subject, it should first ascertain as nearly as possible what it costs the railroad company to transport passengers and freight over its lines.

The Statesman says: It may be given as some further explanation of the removal of Mr. Meacham, that Mr. High, now acting as Agent at Klamath, was formerly Agent at Fort Hall, to which place he is to return since that Agency is transferred to the Methodists again. He considered, it seems, that Mr. Meacham was the cause of his making an unprofitable exchange, and feeling aggrieved he has influenced his particular friend, Sec. Delano, of the Interior, to have somebody else appointed Superintendent of Indian Affairs for Oregon. Even though receiving his appointment through the influence of a religious denomination, the young man avows that he had "speculation in his eye," and Klamath being a poorer speculation than Fort Hall, he resents the exchange, it seems.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN STATES.

South Carolina Ku-Klux.

New York News.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—This morning, after hearing McCourtney in behalf of ex Controller Connolly upon motion to stay proceedings in the suit of Supervisors against Connolly, pending a decision of the Court at Albany, Judge Barnard stated that he would decline to grant the motion as he believed that the Supervisors had a right to bring the action and not the people. This is the first judicial decision yet rendered as to the proper parties to bring these suits. The Judge did not hear the counsel for the Board of Supervisors, but O'Gorman presented the printed opinions of George T. Curtis and ex-Judge Porter, holding the same views expressed by the Judge.

At the Custom House investigation to-day a Custom House clerk testified that he had given from five to ten dollars gratuities to customs officers to prevent goods from going to the General Order Stores.

Letter from Gen. Rosecrans.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 23.—A letter appears in the Commercial this morning from Gen. W. Rosecrans in which he denies that he is in favor of a filibustering attempt to annex Mexico. He regrets the announcement as one of those imaginary scenes against Mexico, because they produce false views, cause needless suffering and damage solid interests by hindering the growth between the United States and eight millions of immediate neighbors of commerce invited by proximity and similarity of political institutions. He deprecates the attempt to force our system of Government upon others regardless of their feelings or qualifications for self-government, and concludes as follows: I think the intelligence and conscience of our people decidedly in favor of a just and liberal policy of friendship toward Mexico as best for both countries.

Shooting Affray in Virginia.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 23.—An exciting shooting affray took place last evening at Charleston, East Virginia, under the following circumstances: During the war the lands of John Clarkson, a wealthy Virginian, were held for taxes. Yesterday he sued for recovery. During the progress of the trial, Clarkson called the defendant, U. S. Marshal Stock, a liar. Stock struck Clarkson and a general melee ensued, in which eleven shots were fired. The room was small and over a dozen persons were present. Clarkson was shot four times. One wound was dangerous, being in the breast. All parties are wealthy and respectable, and the affair causes great excitement.

Dispatch from St. Paul.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 23.—William Holdstenkoff, a Count from Russia, to visit prisons of the United States, arrived here with S. S. Mortell, general manager of the Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad, and other gentlemen. He inspected the Reform School and other public institutions, and was banqueted in the evening.

WASHINGTON CITY.

New Land Bill.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—In the House, Sargent from the Committee on Mines reported a bill for the development of the mines of the country. It declares all Government lands, whether surveyed or not, free and open to exploration and purchase, and defines certain rules governing newly discovered mines.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Senate.—Trumbull presented petitions from citizens of Illinois, Michigan, Iowa and Wisconsin, for a reduction of tariffs and a repeal of duties on coal, salt and pig iron. Trumbull reported the amended apportionment bill and hoped it would receive early consideration.

MEXICO.

Progress of the Rebellion.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Mexican advices report the revolution assuming formidable proportions. The revolutionists defeated the Government forces near San Luis. It is calculated that Cravina can concentrate 6,000 revolutionists to oppose the Government forces coming to the northern frontier. Great excitement is reported in the city of Mexico over the rumor that Diaz, insurgent, is in the vicinity.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Marine Disasters.

ALEXANDRIA (Egypt), Jan. 23.—The steamship Laird in her voyage to this port encountered a heavy gale. The steamer was crowded with natives, many of whom were on deck. During the thickest of the storm the sea swept the deck from stem to stern. Twenty-five native passengers were carried overboard and drowned.

London Dispatch.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—The Liverpool Chamber of Commerce has memorialized for a reduction of tariff on cable messages.

Rev. John Selby Watson, wife murderer, has been granted a respite.

News has been received of the wreck of the African mail steam packet McGregor, on her way from the Cape to England, on the Guinea coast. The passengers and crew were saved.

The Tichborne case continues to attract attention. The claimant's chances are evidently weakening. The opening argument for defense is still going on. The Court is daily crowded with spectators of high rank. The defense say they have thirty witnesses. Revelations of an exciting character are looked for.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—A dispatch from New York announces the arrival of the ship Black Hawk, ninety-five days from San Francisco.

The Hibernia Savings Bank declared a semi-annual dividend at the rate of 9 per cent.

The examination of James B. Newby, the well known Police Court lawyer from Yamhill county, Oregon, on a charge of obtaining money from clients on false pretenses, to-day resulted in his being held for trial on two charges. Bail, one thousand dollars. This is a new precedent in our Courts.

The Effect of Oratory.

STUMP SPEAKING IN AMERICA.

[From a book by the author of "Ginx's Baby."]

In the United States the culture of speech-making begins almost before the culture of thought. Indeed, not long after a few words and ideas have found some lodgment in a young mind, they are casually and cursorily shaken up within it by the demand for an "oration" on some impossible thesis. Fact and history are necessarily awanting to such juvenile spouters, wherefore they are forced to concoct their exercitations partly from imagination and partly from imperfect data. They are encouraged to be theorists before they become cognizant of truths. So universal is the Yankee propensity to orationizing, that to it must be attributed in no small degree the singularly metaphysical and theoretic character of ordinary American reasoning, even on the commonest matters of social or political life; still more those rare and monstrous forms of argument they are wont to advance in international negotiation. You find your neighbor at a dinner table, in defiance of Baconian maxims, elaborately generalizing from one particular. No people in the world has equal talent for the ornamental expression of nothing. Tracing the effect of this on all popular thought, all popular opinion, all popular action—it is to substitute "smartness" for learning—plausibility for fact—to dissolve instead of to crystalize truth in words. Few Americans estimate a word at its correct value. Few of them seem to feel it to be a precious thing not to be squandered; not to be abused to set untruth or commonplace or unreality; a thing which, wielded with exactness and care carries in it a glorious might, but which thrown out with slovenly or shallow incaution is a folly or a sin. To be ready in expressing the results of study and thought is a faculty of [illegible] to cover with thin and melting [illegible] eloquence an underground of ignorance, is to spread delusion for the weakest and most numerous of mankind.

SHORT PARAGRAPHS.

California it seems is not so big as it thought it was by 22,000,000 acres, a recent survey having lopped off that amount of land.

Controller Watt of California in his recent report gives some curious instances of the manner in which the revenue is collected in that State and the returns of Assessors made. In all Sacramento county, for example, there is, according to the report, but one billiard table, while in San Francisco there is no such thing as a pawnbroker's shop.

There was a grand semi-annual flagellation at Newcastle, Delaware, the State of [illegible] flogging, a few days ago. One [illegible] was flogged for the third time, and said that having all the manhood flogged out of him he didn't care for anything. Eight others were punished with twenty lashes each, and several in addition stood for an hour in the pillory. The offence of each was petit larceny.

Every one knows that tobacco was first brought into repute in England by Sir Walter Raleigh. At first he smoked in private, not wishing it to become common; but sitting one day absorbed in meditation, with a pipe in his mouth, he called to his servant to bring him a mug of beer. The fellow, as soon as he entered the room, was seized with terror, threw the contents of the mug into Sir Walter's face, and running down stairs, bawled out "Fire! fire! fire! Help! Sir Walter has studied till his head is on fire, and the smoke is bursting out of his mouth and nose!"

The Shasta [illegible] says: The California and Oregon Railroad Company are holding their lands in Butte county at from $5 to $8 per acre, to the disappointment of many parties who voluntarily forfeited pre-emption rights thereon calculating to ultimately buy of the company at about Government price. Railroad men make very favorable promises to settlers having pre-emption filings on odd sections, but when settlers believe them, and let their claims go by default with the view of purchasing of the railroad company afterward, they find themselves duped, and have to pay very roundly for their experience.

OREGON.

Capt. Scott, grocer of Salem, has received four hundred bushels of potatoes, direct from Puget Sound. We ask: What kind of a fix is Oregon getting into, that she can't raise her own potatoes? Let the farmers answer.

A correspondent in Washington county writes that many farmers there are losing horses by a malignant influenza, more commonly known as blind staggers, and sends the following as a specific for cure, which he has never known to fail: "Drench the diseased animal with from a half a pint to a pint of kerosene oil, and also lay a small portion of the same over the top of the head."

The Democratic Era comments on the determination of the State Agricultural Society to maintain and enforce the Badge Rule, and denounces the badge itself as a disgrace, not being artistic in its effects. The Statesman is happy to inform its readers—and suggests that the [illegible] papers make the information general—that the Society orders for next season that the badges shall all be handsomely printed on ribbon, so as to be relieved as much as possible of odium on account of want of good taste. Also the rule will be enforced in the most gentlemanly and courteous manner. We suppose that gentlemen who object to displaying it on their coats, can easily and cheaply obtain the services of a little boy to act as flagman, and run alongside and wave it tied to a stick.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JANUARY 24, 1872.

A Test of Soundness.

> No party on earth can stand up under the exposures of corruption, fraud and rascality which are now transpiring in the Radical party. That party is shown to be perfectly rotten with every species of peculation, embezzlement, fraud and theft throughout its entire official body.—Herald.

Not "shown" to be, but alleged to be by unscrupulous organs like the one from which this extract is quoted. Allegations and and charges are as plenty as blackberries in June, but proofs are about as scarce as patriotism was in the Democratic party in the days of the war. That there are occasional instances of "peculation, theft, embezzlement, fraud and corruption," is unfortunately true. Such things occur under every administration, and will always occur in spite of the utmost efforts to prevent them. But in this respect the public service has been greatly improved under the present Administration. There are still abuses to be reformed, and the Republican party is reforming them. Senator Trumbull, whom the Herald quotes as a witness to prove its extravagant and sweeping assertions, said that he made no charges of fraud or corruption upon the Administration. It was not his purpose, in submitting his resolution of inquiry, to bring forward accusations, but to investigate the actual state of the public service. The Herald talks about "exposures." These so-called "exposures" are mere empty declamation. The Administration, whenever it discovers peculators and defaulters in public positions, promptly exposes them itself. Every defaulter has been reported to the country just as soon as discovered. Grant has been President three years. During that period $135,187, as the Herald of Sunday informed us, has been lost through defalcations in the Internal Revenue Department. It is bad enough that this amount, or that even a single dollar was lost; but how was it during the four years that Johnson was President? The defalcations of Collectors of Internal Revenue footed up, as the Herald of Sunday told us in its telegrams, $1,187,223. The same results, by comparison, in favor of the present Administration, can be found in all departments of the public service. In the Senate some days ago in the course of debate the fact was cited that out of ninety-eight Receivers of Public Moneys during Van Buren's Administration ninety-two proved defaulters. During Buchanan's term the public service was more lax than now, as the record of irregularities even in Oregon will prove. And the operations of the Government are now so much enlarged that the opportunities for peculation and embezzlement are five-fold greater than they were before the war. Yet in comparison the country has a better and more responsible public service than existed then, and less peculation.

The Republican party, however, does not wish to measure its own conduct by the Democratic standard. It has a higher one. It does not claim that the public service is perfect and that it needs no improvement. But it sets itself at work to improve the public service, to increase its efficiency and to add to the security of the public funds. Whatever is vicious in the present system was inherited from the Democracy, who invented and carried to a greater length than any other party has ever done the maxim that "to the victors belong the spoils."

After all is said, there is one infallible test of an Administration's honesty and success. If the sweeping charges of peculation, fraud and general rascality which the Herald publishes were true, the effect would be profoundly felt upon the credit of the Government. We all remember how the securities of the City of New York declined under the maladministration of Tammany. So great was the odium resting upon them that bankers and capitalists in the money centers of Europe would not even allow the bonds of the city to be quoted in the market. If the financial management of the United States were as "rotten" and as "corrupt" as the Herald alleges, the effect upon the credit of the Government would be precisely the same as that produced upon the credit of New York. Capitalists always know these things and always take them into their calculations. The credit of the United States is better this day than it was when Mr. Buchanan was President. Mr. Buchanan could not get a small loan without a discount of fifteen to eighteen per cent. but now we are negotiating very heavy loans with scarcely any discount at all. Here is conclusive, overwhelming proof of the soundness of the present Administration. So great a fact outweighs all the partisan declamation and calumny that ever was uttered.

Precept Better than Practice.

"If there is anywhere in the world a worse civil service than that of the United States, I pray God to deliver the people from it!"

This was uttered some weeks ago in the Senate of the United States. The Democratic press has ever since been busy passing it round. Beyond doubt our civil service has its abuses. And it may be suggested that our military and naval service is not quite up to the height of absolute perfection. No human institution yet fills that bill. Our civil service, such as it is, was inherited from the Democratic party. All the worst abuses in it are of that party's invention. From the time of Jackson it has used the civil service as an instrument of party patronage, has used it unscrupulously and abused it in the using. In Oregon to-day it is doing the very same thing. For a spectacle, behold its organs in this State, fed, some of them to repletion, with litigant pap, crying out for civil service reform in the General Government and inveighing against the practice of giving the legitimate patronage of the Government to the friends of the Administration!

Several times we have asked the Herald this question: "Will you pledge your party, in case it comes into power, to restrain the civil service from being used as an instrument of party patronage?" We have received no answer. The truth is, that paper cannot answer this question in the affirmative without feeling obliged for the sake of consistency to surrender the litigant printing, and this it is not ready to do. It preaches, but is not yet ready to practice, reform.

—At date of last report there were 240 prisoners in the county jail of San Francisco, of whom two-thirds were able-bodied men fit to do hard work. Many of them had been sent up for petty offences which they had obviously perpetrated in order to get into jail to be taken care of and to avoid work. But arrangements are being made to work them in a chain-gang on the streets, a measure which it is believed will materially relieve the jail of the pressure of boarders in a short time. The prisoners in our county jail, we believe, are not required to work. Would it not be well, both as a sanitary measure for the prisoners and an economical measure for the county, to start a chain-gang here?

Meeting of the National Republican Committee.

On the 11th inst. the Republican National Committee met at Washington to fix the time and place for holding the next National Convention. Ex-Gov. Claflin, of Massachusetts, presided. Wednesday, June 5th, was the day selected for holding the Convention. Propositions had been received from several cities, each offering inducements to the Committee to be named as the place, but finally Philadelphia was agreed upon. The dispatch adds:

> The Executive Committee reminds the country that the promises of the Union Republican Convention of 1868 have been fulfilled. The States lately in rebellion are restored to their former relations in the Government. The laws of the country have been faithfully executed. The public faith has been kept, preserving the National credit, which is now firmly established, and Government economy is illustrated at the same time by the reduction of the public debt and of taxation, and the funding of the National debt at a lower rate of interest, which had been successfully inaugurated. The rights of naturalized citizens had been protected by treaty. Immigration had been encouraged by liberal provisions. The defenders of the Union had been gratefully remembered. The rights and interests of labor had been recognized, and laws enacted and enforced for the protection of persons and property in all sections of the country. Equal suffrage had been engrafted on the National Constitution, giving to all equal suffrages, and immunities as American citizens. A liberal policy had been adopted towards all who were engaged in the rebellion. The complications of our foreign relations had been adjusted in the interests of peace throughout the world, while the national honor had been maintained. Corruption had been exposed and the offenders punished. The Republican party also stands pledged to correct all abuses, carry out all reforms necessary, to maintain the purity and efficiency of the public service. And to continue firmly to establish these fundamental principles, we invite the co-operation of all citizens of the United States.

The Klamath Lake Country.

KLAMATH, OREGON,
January 10th, 1872.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

SIR: I wish to publish through your columns some account of the natural resources of this section of Oregon, for the information of the unsettled traveling public, that are moving to and fro from Oregon to California, and from California to Oregon, from year to year, in search of homes, as well as for many residents throughout Oregon that are in the stock growing business.

This section is now sparsely settled with a few stock-raisers from Southern Oregon and Northern California. It has attracted but little attention for the time past, owing in a great measure to its being out of the way of travel. But few have found their way hither. Last summer some twenty or more families from Oregon came into our vast extent of country to locate permanently, and a few from California. They all seem to be well satisfied and are at work preparing to farm and open up a settlement in good style. As a country for cattle, sheep and horses, and I might add hogs, its equal is not to be found on the Pacific slope. For the last twelve years, to my own knowledge, there has not been a winter that stock men have need hay for our stock, and animals came out in the spring fat and fine. All we lack to prove this to the outside world is a railroad, which is earnestly solicited by all residents in these parts; and moreover, looked for and expected within two years at most, if Ben. Holladay "holds his grip."

Our greatest drawback has been, and still is, the neglect of our Indian Department and Agents to keep the Indians on the Reservation, where they agreed to go in 1863, but which some of them have never done. This one thing alone keeps this country from making fair progress in settlement. As it is the settlers here are not now and never have been safe in life or property, and have repeatedly petitioned the agents to remove a band of Modoc Indians, numbering some two hundred and fifty in all, from the heart of the settlement. These Indians still pretend to claim the country. Nevertheless they agreed to abandon it to the whites in 1863. Ever since that time they have virtually lived off the honest settlers' stock. Why or how is it that these Indians are allowed to go at large when the Government pays men to look after them, appropriates food and clothing in abundance, and keeps up a military post of two good and full companies to support their authority, is a mystery to the oldest settlers of these parts. I would like to know for one how it is done, and what its advantages are to the authorities.

Beef is no object in this country. If the agents were authorized to do so they could feed the entire Indian delegation throughout the worst winter months with the ample and bountiful appropriations made by the Government for these Indians. Thousands of pounds of good beef can be bought here now, as was the case last winter also, for five cents on foot, delivered at the respective reservations. Flour can be laid down at the agencies, at the proper season of the year for low figures, which can be amply proven by the hundreds of farmers and millers of Rogue river valley. Instead of this way of securing the flour at the proper time in the fall of the year when the roads are good, the job is postponed until the fall or winter rains set in and roads become bad and impracticable for large teams and the risks of the mountains intervening causes the freights to be greatly augmented. When flour reaches its destination its cost is from 7½ to 15 cents per pound. The Indian only gets one pound where he should, under fair and judicious management, have at least two pounds for the same money. Now to verify this statement we only need refer to the Quartermaster's transportations to Fort Klamath, which is usually performed from the month of August to the latter part of November. For the last five years the cost has not exceeded 2½ cents, and large lots have been freighted for two cents from the vicinity of Jacksonville, at the same point where the usual supply comes from for these Indians. I can positively state there are scores of men who would take these flour contracts at 5 cents per pound had they a reasonable show, and were the contracts let at the proper season as army contracts are. And I can say the same of beef contracts. If a chance were given to the public the beef would be at a greatly reduced rate from what it is at this time, ranging from 10 to 13 cents, when the agent could buy it delivered at five and six cents at the farthest. I believe in retrenchment. I believe in giving the Indian precisely what is his due, without speculating on his small annuity.

We have country sufficient for two large fertile counties, capable of sustaining many thousands of people who are at this time roaming over the Pacific States looking for homes. People here hope that the press of the State will encourage the settlement of these valuable lands East of the Cascade mountains, for this section is identified with the welfare and prosperity of the whole State. For agriculture, stock growing and mining it stands at this day the equal of any part of this coast. T.

A Baby Brigand.

[From the S. F. Bulletin.]

Sonoma county, the other day, was nearly struck dumb with amazement. There had previously been a stage robbery near Cloverdale, perpetrated by five or six robbers—stout able bodied men—who found no difficulty in capturing a stage load of passengers, and who added robbery to murder by shooting one of the passengers. Some of these fellows have been allowed to plead guilty to a charge of highway robbery, although they were clearly guilty of murder.

But a few weeks afterward, the stage was again stopped by a single individual, and the treasure box was thrown out to him on demand, by the accommodating driver. It turns out that a boy not over fourteen years of age, and probably less, presenting a stake, was able to freeze a stage load of passengers with terror, and, as if by magic, to make a treasure box fall at his feet. Whether this baby brigand devised the affair as a grim joke, or was really in earnest, does not clearly appear. But since the boy, weaned or unweaned, has been captured, comparative safety has been secured in Sonoma county.

PACIFIC COAST DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

CALIFORNIA.

The Japanese Embassy.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—Iwakura and suite visited the Public Schools to-day, paying particular attention to the military drill of the boys at Lincoln school, and the singing and rehearsals of the girls at the Denman school, in which he appeared deeply interested. Mr. DeLong made a brief address to the pupils at Denman's school.

The steamer Idaho from Mexico and Gulf ports, concerning which, some anxiety was caused by dispatches from Guaymas, via San Diego and Los Angeles, is outside bound in this evening.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—The Japanese banquet, which commenced at about half past 8, will last until about midnight. His Excellency Prince Iwakura will occupy the center of the table with Gov. Booth on his right and Minister Delong on the left. Short speeches are to be the order after the toasts to the President of the United States and to the Tenno of Japan, Iwakura will make a short address in Japanese. The most important address will be made in English, by Governor Ito, which will be significant as foreshadowing the future policy of Japan.

The messages between Iwakura and Hamilton Fish by telegraph to day were as follows:

To Washington, D. C.: The Japanese Minister is here ready to receive the salutation of Secretary Fish.

The answer of the Secretary was:

The Secretary of State congratulates the Japanese Minister on his arrival, and tenders a cordial welcome to the United States to himself and his Embassy.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—To Hon. Hamilton Fish, Secretary of State: Many thanks for your welcome to the United States. We shall leave here next week for Washington, when we shall have the honor of meeting you personally, and presenting our credentials as Embassadors Extraordinary from his Majesty the Tenno of Japan to the treaty Powers. Very respectfully,

[Signed] IWAKURA,
Embassador Extraordinary.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—To Prince Iwakura, Ambassador Extraordinary, San Francisco: The President will be much pleased to receive yourself and Embassy, and hopes that your journey across the continent may be agreeable and safe. You will meet in the American people and their Government, true friends, looking with warm interest to all that relates to your country, and to the future relations between the Tenno's Government and that of the United States. The advent of such an Embassy marks an epoch in the history of both nations.

(Signed,) HAMILTON FISH,
Secretary of State.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—To Iwakura, Ambassador Extraordinary, San Francisco: The President of the W. U. Telegraph Co., presents his respectful compliments to the Amb. Ex. of Japan and tenders the use of the lines in the United States, whenever His Excellency may desire them. (Signed) WM. ORTON.

The Embassy received dispatches from many of the principal cities in the United States, congratulating them on their safe arrival and offering the hospitalities of their cities.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—The most important speech of the evening, as foreshadowing the future policy of Japan, made in English, by Gov. Ito, in response to toasts by our distinguished guests.

UTAH.

CORINNE, Jan. 23.—Passengers and baggage were yesterday transferred at the blockade between Medicine Bow and Laramie, and arrived at Ogden to-day. A heavy snow storm is prevailing and cuts are fast filling up. The road is reported blocked between Laramie and Cheyenne, and to-day's train had not left Cheyenne up to 12 o'clock to-day. If the storm keeps up it will be several days before the road can be opened for trains. It is blowing a gale here at 10 P. M.

Origin of Poe's Raven.

[From Once a Week.]

Let us take the several steps of the process by which, according to Poe's own account, the "Raven" was manufactured. He commenced with the intention of composing a poem that should suit at once the popular and the critical. The first consideration was that of extent. If any literary work is too long to be read at one sitting, the important effect derivable from unity of impression would be lost, or at least greatly impaired; for where two sittings are required, the affairs of the world interfere, and everything like totality is at once destroyed. Following up this argument, the question arose—how long should a poem be? The conclusion was, that to enable it to be read comfortably at one sitting, the intended poem should not be of a greater length than of about one hundred lines. The "Raven" is, in fact, a hundred and eight. His next thought was on the choice of an impression or effect to be conveyed; "and here," says Poe, "I may as well observe that, throughout the construction, I kept steadily in view the design of rendering the work universally appreciable." His conclusion—for which he gives a prolixity of reasons—therefore, was that the impression must be one of sadness, and that the poem must be of a melancholy tone.

"Beauty, of whatever kind, in its supreme development, invariably excites the sensitive soul to tears. Melancholy is thus the most legitimate of all the poetical tones."

His next consideration was whether there was some "artistic piquancy" which might serve him as the key-note in the construction of the poem. What, then, so suitable for this purpose as the employment of the refrain? Since the application of the refrain was to be repeatedly varied, it was clear that the refrain itself must be brief; for there would have been an insurmountable difficulty in frequent variations of application in any sentence of length. A single word, therefore, would make the best refrain. What was the refrain to be? It must be sonorous and emphatic, and in full keeping with that melancholy which the poet had predetermined as the tone of the poem. The long o is the most sonorous vowel, in connection with r as the most producible consonant.

"In such a search it would have been absolutely impossible to overlook the word 'Nevermore'—in fact, it was the very first which presented itself."

The next desideratum was a pretext for the continuous use of the one word "Nevermore." It would be awkward to have a single word monotonously repeated by a reasonable being. The refrain must, therefore, be uttered by a non-reasoning creature, capable of speech; and, very naturally, a parrot, in the first instance, suggested itself; but was superseded forthwith by a raven, as equally capable of speech, and infinitely more in keeping with the intended tone.

The poet had now gone so far as the conception of a raven—the bird of ill-omen—monotonously repeating the one word "Nevermore" at the conclusion of each stanza, in a melancholy tone.

The next question was, of all melancholy topics, what, according to the universal understanding of mankind, is the most melancholy? Death, was the obvious reply. And when is this most melancholy of topics most poetic? When it most closely allies itself to beauty. The death, then, of a beautiful woman is unquestionably the most poetical topic in the world; and the lips best suited for such topic are those of a bereaved lover.

Combine, now, the ideas of a lover lamenting his deceased mistress, and a raven continuously repeating the word "Nevermore." Let the lover begin by a commonplace query, to which the raven should thus answer; then, a query less commonplace; then a third, still less so; and thus on, until at length the lover—startled from his original nonchalance by the melancholy character of the word itself, by its frequent repetition, and by a consideration of the ominous reputation of the fowl that uttered it—is excited to superstition, and wildly propounds queries of a far different character—queries whose solution he has passionately at heart; propounds them half in superstition and half in that species of despair which delights in self-torture; propounds them, not altogether because he believes in the prophetic or demoniac character of the bird (which, reason assures him, is merely repeating a lesson learned by rote), but because he experiences a frenzied pleasure in so modeling his question as to receive from the expected "Nevermore" the most delicious, because the most intolerable sorrow.

At this stage, Poe assures us, the poem had its beginning—"At the end, where all works of art should begin; for it was here, at this point of my preconsiderations, that I first put pen to paper in the composition of the stanza:

> "'Prophet,' said I, 'thing of evil! prophet still, if bird or devil,
> By that heaven that bends above us—by that God we both adore,
> Tell this soul, with sorrow laden, if within the distant Aidenn
> It shall clasp a sainted maiden whom the angels name Lenore—
> Clasp a rare and radiant maiden whom the angels name Lenore.'
> Quoth the raven, 'Nevermore.'"

This was to be the climax of the poem—and of all the stanzas the most vigorous. "Had I been able," says Poe, "in the subsequent composition, to construct more vigorous stanzas, I should, without scruple, have purposely enfeebled them, so as not to interfere with the climactive effect."

Originality in the rythm and metre was another part of the composition, and Poe maintained that nothing even remotely approaching the stanza of the "Raven" had ever been attempted.

Where, then, were the lover and the raven to be brought together? Not in a forest or in the fields, as might have seemed the natural suggestion—for "close circumscription of space is absolutely necessary to the effect of insulated incident; it has the force of a frame to a picture." It was determined, then, to place the rover in his chamber, which, in pursuance of the ideas already explained on the subject of Beauty as the sole true poetical basis, must be richly furnished.

The raven must come in by the window. The night must be stormy. The bird must alight on a bust of Pallas—for contrast of marble and plumage—because the rover is a scholar; the bust of Pallas being chosen, first, as most in keeping with the scholarship of the rover, and secondly, for the sonorousness of the word Pallas itself.

Now, all this is very ingenious, and has a wonderful air of truth about it; but when we remember Poe's own favorite artifices of composition in which he delights to give to a sketch of pure imagination the appearance of the most gospel truth, we are inclined to be sceptical. There is too much of the real fire of genius, breaking forth in wild, involuntary song, in the "Raven," as in his other poems, such as "Ulalume," "Lenore," or "Irene," for us to accept such a cold-blooded confession as genuine.

In the Legislature of California a memorial to Congress has been introduced asking the passage of a postal telegraph bill. The proposition is favored by most of the newspapers of that State.

Failure of many of the most eminent physicians of San Francisco to cure a case of Rheumatism.—Triumph of the Unk Weed Remedy.

San Jose, August 28, 1871.

DR. A. M. LORYEA & CO.: This is to certify that I the undersigned, have been sick for five years with Rheumatism, and have been treated for many ailments. My trouble has been weakness of the back and side, and wandering pains all over my body. I have been treated by many of the most eminent physicians of San Francisco, as well as of this city, but without any effect. At last I was induced to try your UNK WEED REMEDY, and the result was that after taking the contents of two bottles I found myself perfectly cured. To all afflicted with Rheumatism, I say TRY THE UNK WEED REMEDY, and you will be cured. Yours truly,

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JANUARY 24, 1872.

CITY.

Real Estate.—All the real estate agents report more inquiry for property, particularly farming lands. This inquiry, with many sales negotiated for farming lands, speaks well for our future growth and permanent prosperity as a city, for no city can outgrow the country and remain permanent with its increased growth. Portland is not growing (although improvements are going up every day) in proportion to the increased and increasing trade caused by the settling up more thickly of the agricultural lands, and also by the new points added to our trade by the extension of the Oregon and California Railroad.

More Books.—The following new additions have been made to the Portland Library:

The complete works of Andrew Fuller, with a Memoir of his Life. By Andrew Gunton Fuller.

History of the Girondists, or Personal Memoirs of the Patriots of the French Revolution, from unpublished sources. By Alphonde de Lamartine, author of Travels in the Holy Land. Three volumes.

T. S. Arthur's Great Temperance Stories, Six Nights with the Washingtonians, and other Temperance Tales. By the author of Ten Nights in a Barroom, with illustrations.

Heard From.—The new schooner built at Tillamook, to accommodate the growing trade between that place and this, was, while crossing the Columbia river bar en route for this port, met by reverse winds and blown to sea. When last heard from she was at Port Ludlow undergoing repairs. One of the passengers who left Tillamook on her reports having a very hard and severe time while at sea. The schooner is expected to sail from Port Ludlow the latter part of the week for this place.

Upper Columbia Weather Report.—The following weather reports came through by the O. S. N. Co.'s telegraph, yesterday: This morning at the Cascades the weather was clear, with the thermometer at 19 degrees. The river was full of running ice. At the Dalles it was cloudy with the mercury at 23 degrees. The river at this point is clear of ice. It was snowing at Walla Walla. The thermometer indicated 21 degrees. At Umatilla it was cloudy, with the prospect of a snow-storm; thermometer indicating 30 degrees.

Sudden Death.—The Coroner, Thomas J. Dryer, was called last evening about 8 o'clock to hold an inquest on the body of Fredrich Hoffman, who died very suddenly at the Astor House about 7 o'clock. "After hearing the testimony and receiving Dr. Parker's (attending physician) statement, we, the jury, find that the deceased came to his death by congestion of the brain. H. M. Green, Foreman; John Corcoran, Joseph Cunningham, Charles Yoncust, W. Davis, James Murphy."

Pacific Insurance Company.—The San Francisco Chronicle says that the total loss of the Pacific Insurance Company by the Chicago fire, when finally adjusted, amounted to $1,983,000. Of this amount $1,433,000 has been bought in at fifty cents on the dollar, leaving the remainder outstanding; and after settlement of which at the same rate there will remain a deficiency of $100,000, to be made up by stockholders in addition to the loss of their original investment.

Highway Robbery.—As a farmer named Lewis, residing in Washington county, was returning home by the Canyon road night before last, he was relieved of all his money and other valuables on his person by two foot pads. It appears that owing to the disguises of the robbers, Mr. Lewis will be impossible to recognize them. Our farmers and others should be prepared in case of meeting any highwaymen to give them more than they bargain for.

Passengers from California.—The following passengers arrived last night by the steamer Ajax from San Francisco: Lt E D Rust and wife, Mrs R Delvin, Miss S Lane, J H Lane, S W Burnham, B Davis, L Aldrich, S C Adams, G Tibbitts, F Carless, Mrs R Clarkston, Mrs A Wandlk and child, M M Parsons, Thos Monteith, F Lewis, C Messger, J Edwards, M Baumgarton.

Passengers by the California.—The following passengers left yesterday on the steamer California for Victoria and Sound ports: W H Humphreys, S L Risden, Joseph Alexander, M Wilson, J Openheimer, Eugene Crowne, Geo W Traver, Mrs J A Kaiser, Mrs Boagan and 5 children, Jno Dempsey, T F Gallagher, J Pester, and 12 in the steerage.

Bids to be Received.—Major Robert, Chief of U. S. Engineers, will until February 15th receive bids for a portion of the stone work for the Cape Foulweather Light House; also bids for some light iron work will be received until the 1st proximo. Plans and specifications are to be seen at the office of Major Robert.

Quick Passage.—The steamer Oriflamme on her last passage down, made the best time from here to San Francisco that has been made this year. She left here Saturday morning, January 20th, at 1 o'clock, and arrived in San Francisco Monday afternoon at two o'clock, making her running time sixty-one hours.

Festival.—The festival at the First Presbyterian Church, corner of Third and Washington streets, takes place this evening. From the well known standing of all taking an active part in making the festival attractive, we would bespeak all those who attend a pleasant and agreeable evening's entertainment.

Pilot Law.—We are informed that the last session of Congress passed an Act, which was signed, to the effect that coasters are not obliged to take on harbor or river pilots. As United States laws take precedence over State laws, Captains of coasters can regulate themselves accordingly.

Large States Mail.—The steamer Ajax brought the largest mail of the season—about 150 sacks papers and letters. Our citizens will have plenty of Eastern news, sufficient to last two weeks. The Postoffice is so crowded that it is as much as the folks there can do to turn around.

Another Time.—There is another dispatch this morning relative to the doings of James B. Newby "of Yamhill" in San Francisco. If they would just put James B. in the penitentiary and hide him from the public eye, Oregon's reputation would be the gainer in the long run.

Alarm of Fire.—The fire last evening was occasioned by the burning of a bed mattress at the International Hotel. A few buckets of water quenched it. The Fire Department, as usual, were promptly on the ground, but their services were not required.

Tug Boat.—The tug boat Ben Holladay had steam up yesterday. She will proceed to Springville to-day and bring up a raft of logs, after which she will be placed on the river for regular service.

Ice in the Columbia.—The officers of the steamer Ajax report the ice running thick in the Columbia river.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Only one fire hydrant was found frozen yesterday.

Jurors for the Circuit Court will be drawn to-day.

A grocer in this city announces "Frash Bake Peanuts."

Photographers are doing a lively business this fine weather.

The mercury stood at 22 degrees yesterday at Martin's Bluff.

Three cases were disposed of in the Police Court yesterday.

The Columbia Rebekah Lodge will net about $150 on their ball.

The U. S. District Court admitted Louis A. Traaberg, of Germany, to citizenship.

The carpenters had a portion of Halsey's new hotel closed in yesterday. The work goes on lively.

A Mr. Starr's house on Fifth street, came near being set on fire by a servant girl accidentally dropping a coal oil lamp.

A German named John Engler has been missing for several weeks, and it is feared by his friends, that he jumped off one of the wharves while laboring under a temporary fit of insanity, and was drowned.

Work of every description in the house finishing line will be done at short notice to the best of satisfaction.

PAUL RICHTER.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Masquerade Carnival.—After weeks of preparation the Grand Masquerade Carnival came off last evening at the Skating Rink. Since the opening of the pavilion we have never seen so large an audience assembled within the building, if we except on the occasion of the concert in aid of Chicago, as was there last night. The affair was a success in every particular, some eighty persons appearing in varied costumes. The majority of the dresses were of the finest fabrics. At eight o'clock the masqueraders appeared, and, after displaying a number of movements bordering on the military style, broke up and scattered promiscuously, in which latter (having more freedom) each individual was enabled to personate his character more perfectly. As our space is limited we bring our notice to a conclusion by giving the titles of the characters and the names of those personating them: Winnie M—k, Petit Farie, Louie W—t, Lilliputian Prince, leaders of march; Mrs. M. A. K—g, fancy dress velvet and gold, beautiful; Mrs. T—n, Queen Victoria; Mrs. M—k, Daughter of the Regiment; Miss H—y, Maid of the Frigate; Miss S—g, Goddess of Liberty; Mrs. B—ll, Night; Miss Hattie K—g, Red, White and Blue; Miss B—n, Sister of Charity; Mrs. F—y, Summer; Miss S—n, Highland Lassie; Miss F—r, Fairy Queen; Miss D—s, Young Prince; Miss D—s, Peasant Girl; Miss S—k, Winter; Miss R—m, Ozric, a Page; Miss M—S—n, Spanish Ballet Girl; Miss T—y, Folly, with fool's cap and bells; Miss V—n, Highland Lassie; Miss M—t, Winter; Miss T—n, Bohemian Girl; Miss Dixie T—n, Little Red Riding Hood; Miss C—p, Italian Girl; Miss Minnie P—y, Pocahontas; Miss Nellie W—t, Spanish Girl; Miss Allice W—t, Fancy Dress; Miss Ida M—h, Swiss Peasant Girl; Miss Lizzie M—h, Fancy Dress.

Oro Fino Theater.—Owing to the attractions elsewhere this house was slimly attended last evening to witness the first production of Bulwer's justly celebrated play of "Richelieu." Mr. Waldron's rendition of the Cardinal was a master piece of acting throughout. Mrs. Waldron, in the character of Julia De Mortimer, was acceptable. Mr. Fulford did not appear to as good advantage as heretofore, but as this gentleman has given our theater goers some excellent acting, his faults last night must be overlooked. Richelieu, produced at some other time with more careful rehearsal on the part of several members of the company, will attract a much larger audience. To-night Enoch Arden for the last time.

The New England Mutual Life Insurance Company was incorporated in 1835, and is therefore the oldest purely Mutual Life Insurance Company in the United States; it has cash assets of over $10,000,000, and is the only Company on the Pacific Coast governed by the Massachusetts Non-Forfeiture Law, offering all the advantages of age and prudent management, its average expenses being lower than any other Company in the United States. It also offers protection against forfeiture by virtue of the Massachusetts Non-Forfeiture Law, which is a feature of great importance, and should be carefully considered by all persons seeking insurance. TESTIMONIALS.

We the undersigned having been the recipients of the services of Mrs. M. C. White in teaching the science of Music on the Pianoforte, take pleasure in giving a hearty Testimonial that we have employed her in our families as a teacher of her "New Method of Instruction," and that it has proven superior to any method we have ever known. And that although the first cost may be a trifle greater than some others, we believe it to be in the aggregate much cheaper, beside being a great economy in point of time. We, therefore, take pleasure in recommending her to the patronage of all who may be desirous of obtaining a musical education, as a very superior instructor.

To those who desire to know more about it before increasing any expense, we give a cordial invitation to call at our house and interview her pupils.

For reference see advertisement.

NAT. H. LANE, East Portland.

East Portland, Jan. 3, 1872.

Mrs. M. C. White—Respected Madam—Having heard of your System of teaching the Pianoforte, known as the Robins' American Method, and having been present a few days since, at the exercises of one of your pupils, Miss Lane, of East Portland, I was much surprised and exceedingly gratified, at the perfect performance of the most difficult pieces, (such as Gotschalk Bango, etc.) and this after the short term of six months tuition.

Allow me to express my approbation of your System of your Instruction, and with my best wishes for your success allow me to subscribe myself,

Yours Respectfully,
TH. PARROT, Prof. of Music, and Leader of the East Portland Band.

An Appeal to Reason.

Health would be much more carefully guarded than it is at present, and the average of human life lengthened by many years, if common sense and the light of experience were accepted by the universal public as their medical monitor and guide. The true philosophy of health is simple. It consists in refraining from indulgences and imprudences which impair the vital forces, and in supplying any deficiency of vital power and constitutional vigor that may exist, by invigorating and alterative treatment. To reinforce and regulate a feeble system, and to prevent a more vigorous physique from yielding to unhealthy and debilitating influences, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is unquestionably the most potent of all vegetable purifyers. As a stimulant, it is the purest ever administered in medical practice; as a tonic and stomachic, the most infallible; as an anti-billious agent, the safest and surest, and as an aperient and regulating medicine, mild and painless, yet irresistible. It is a protection against disease of every kind, and all seasons, and is particularly efficacious as a means of forearming the system against the ailments generated by a raw, damp, ungenial atmosphere. Hence its great value as a winter tonic and invigorant. No one predisposed to indigestion, biliousness, constipation, rheumatism or nervous headache, should ever be without this Vital Elixir. As a certain class of country dealers are very anxious to dose their customers with "local bitters," of a worthless and pernicious character, which they represent to be equal or superior to the great national tonic, the public is hereby forewarned against their "tricks of trade."

LITTLE HOMES!

We have obtained many testimonials, which appear in the Weekly Oregonian, for the purpose of answering once for all the many inquiries in relation to our "LITTLE HOMES." We desire to show to strangers, through men of known integrity in this community that they are all we claim for them—cheap at present prices, and the speculation in them lies in the future growth of Portland, in the building of Railroads, and Bridges over the Willamette which is merely a question of time—and in the fact that in less than one mile distant, City Blocks (200 feet square) are selling for from two to three thousand dollars, and in less than two-and-a-half miles (on a direct line) blocks are selling as high as $200,000 per block! Just think of it! $60 per acre for land, and 2½ miles distant, $200,000 per acre! New York city is over twenty miles in length and six miles wide, and many other cities in the United States are half that size, and quite as wide, and if Portland becomes a metropolis she will require this land for business purposes. Thirty years ago we could have purchased a section of land where the business portion of Chicago now stands for $10 per acre, or $50 for a five acre tract. Thirty years ago we could have purchased the town site of Portland for a Cayuse pony—but we didn't have the pony! Twenty years ago a solitary individual, with neither money nor friends, found himself in Portland without a red. He purchased a basket "on tick," and filled it with oranges, on the same terms, and went to peddling. Twenty long, eventful years have since elapsed. Still that sturdy old pioneer has stuck to Portland, and worked his way through thick and thin; and now where do you think he is?—in the poor house, and owes for the basket! But to our

The land is level—some timbered and some nearly clear—its altitude about the same as Portland—good roads—never overflows, and the price is regulated by the quality of the soil and the distance from the city.

The Tichborne Case.

All of our readers have heard of the singular Tichborne case, which is now on trial in England. It is one of the most curious cases of mistaken identity on record, and excites a marked interest even on this side of the Atlantic, involving as it does the title and estates of an ancient barony, and an annual income of nearly a million dollars. The following brief recapitulation of the case will be found to possess interest:

In 1853 Charles Roger Tichborne, the heir to the estate, left England for Valparaiso, and after spending a year in South America, during which time he was in constant communication with his family, was reported to have been lost in the ship Bella, which foundered on the way from Rio de Janeiro to New York. In 1858 a rumor was brought to the family by a sailor that a boat's crew had been picked up from the Bella, and carried into Melbourne. Sir James Tichborne, the father, paid no attention to this; but his wife conceived the hope that her son might have been saved, inserted advertisements in the Australian papers, and took various measures toward his recovery. Nothing more was heard, however, until after the death of Sir James in 1866, when she received letters from some one purporting to be her son, written from New South Wales, and asking for money to come to England. This was sent him, and in 1867 he arrived in Paris, accompanied by his wife and child, where he was met by Lady Tichborne, who acknowledged him as her son. His identity, however, was disputed by the rest of the family, who maintained that the mother's judgment was weakened, and that she was in a state to be deceived by any impostor. The case was carried into the courts; apparently the most conclusive testimony has been produced on either side, and whatever the verdict may be, the question must always remain a doubtful one in the minds of many whether the claimant is the rightful heir or merely a clever adventurer, destined by fate to make good the family prophecy connected with the Tichborne family.

The family of Tichborne date their tenure of the manor of that name, situate near Alresford, in Hampshire, from the ninth century. In the reign of Henry II. the Lady Mabella Tichborne, who had been bedridden for many years, and was then near death's door, besought her husband, the then Sir Roger, to bestow upon her such means as should enable her to leave a bequest of a loaf of bread to all applicants on the day of the Annunciation of the Mother of Our Lord [illegible]. In reply, her husband promised [illegible] of his property as she [illegible] while a [illegible] should burn. He fancied that, [illegible] of her age and infirmity, she [illegible] get over very little ground, but being borne to the corner of the park, she made a vehement effort, hobbled round twenty-three acres of very rich land, known to this day as "The Crawls," and was then carried back to her bed. Presently she called her household around her, and prophesied that the Tichborne family would prosper so long as the dole was continued to the poor, but that if it was neglected, the family name would be lost for want of male issue, and the line die out.

In 1802 there was a partial fulfilment of the Lady Mabella's prophecy, for in that year the then head of the family died and left seven sons, the eldest of whom succeeded to the baronetcy, but he died, leaving seven daughters, whereupon that branch of the family took the name of Doughty—so that the Tichborne name was actually merged for a time.

Messrs. Everding & Farrell inform us that the missing schooner from Tillamook is at Port Ludlow, having been driven there by the heavy wind, in which she was caught. After she is got in repair—which will take one week longer—she will sail for this place.

There is a very strong probability that the ship Windward will—after having damages repaired—be laid on for China in this port.

The steamer Ajax, from San Francisco, arrived this evening.

[illegible] freights from New York to San Francisco are very active, caused by the snow blockade on the railroad. Rates for freight per clipper are drooping. The engagements for the lines have been very large.

The officers of [illegible] in the Columbia [illegible] reports made by the officers of the Dixie [illegible] and Fannie Troup, the only [illegible] that more ice is in the river to-day than yesterday.

That the present Administration has done more than even its most sanguine friends conceded it would be able to accomplish to bring us out of the chaotic (political, financial and commercial) state in which we were it came into power is a fact that is now clearly understood. Politically we do not deal, but with its financial and commercial policy we are free [illegible] that which will [illegible] and other [illegible] interests, and we also [illegible] freely commend any and all [illegible] nation, to the high position, commercially, we are destined to occupy. Viewing the efforts of the present Administration from a purely impartial stand-point—that commercially—we are free to confess that it has accomplished more, within the same length of time, than has marked the history of any Administration in the history of the United States, and [illegible] is putting forth stronger efforts than ever to overcome any and all obstacles that stand in the way of our national progress commercially, for as we advance commercially so do we in like proportion advance in agriculture, manufacturing, etc., for, without one the other could not exist. A short retrospect will enable us more fully to understand what has been accomplished.

At the commencement of the present Administration the South was still in a state of demoralization, from which nothing of great advantage commercially could be derived, owing to the insecurity of property. Now commercial relations are re-established on a firmer and more lasting basis than ever before, since immediately following, for a few years, the war with our Mother Country. More land was last year placed in cultivation in the South than in any previous [illegible] of its history, and the returns, with favorable weather, would have at once placed her ahead in every branch of agriculture over any preceding year. Not alone in agriculture is the South flourishing, but manufactures are springing up like magic in all of the States. The prosperity of the South has not been alone, for the Northern, Western and Pacific Slope States and Territories have enjoyed, in proportion, similar prosperity. The superficial thinker may be taught by political demagogues to believe to the contrary, but to those who, with the commercial and financial business men of our country, are well versed in everything appertaining to our growth and prosperity, it is too well known to require the refuting of demagogues' sayings—for arguments, none are brought unless on false statistics.

Our finances have been managed in a manner that reflects the greatest credit upon this Administration. Our Bonds abroad have been advanced in value by the course of the Secretary of the Treasury until now, they take rank with those of the most favored nations, and are sought for by leading capitalist abroad and at home as presenting a sure and safe investment; but it is not alone the price of our National Bonds that have been advanced, but other securities—outside of Erie Stocks and New York, which are affected by local mismanagement—have shown a firm and in some instances advancing tendency, with advances established in many of the leading securities. Were it not for the high position attained—financially—by our National Securities, brought about by the present Administration, other Securities would not now show such a firm attitude, and in many cases with advances established and still tending up, as they do in the financial marts of the civilized countries. It is hardly necessary for us to say that increased prosperity is invariably followed by lessened taxation, for to the most superficial thinker it at once appears as being incontrovertible. This year will witness the demise by limitation of the Income Tax and the greatly reduced Tariffs on nearly every article imported, so that not alone will direct taxation be less but also indirect, which in the case of direct taxation will probably be lessened each year we continue to advance in prosperity. None who have the best interests of our country at heart but shrink with fear from what might occur by a change of Presidents just at this time when we are so fast approaching the desired end sought by all interested in national progress in which all will be more or less directly benefitted. There are other points which are of vital interest to us commercially why we should think long before we ought to give our influence to a change in the Administration. These reasons we will at different times give—at the present writing both time and space forbid.

Produce Market.

WHEAT—Advices from San Francisco and Liverpool of another decline have caused buyers to become more offish. The Liverpool quotations came through this morning at 12s 5d and San Francisco quotations at $2 10 @2 20 ℔ cental—both dispatches were private. We could learn of no transactions to-day. The steamer California took on to-day 1,055 sks, of which 1,039 were for Sound ports.

FLOUR—The local demand has been fair for standard brands at quotations. The steamer California took on 4,677 qr sks, of which amount 2,076 were for Victoria and the balance for Sound ports. We quote extra of standard brands at $5 25 ℔ bbl; choice country, $5 50; outside and superfine, $5 75@6 25.

HAY—With the stoppage of boats on the Columbia river receipts have fallen off, but with the large stock on hand and the consumptive demand, for the present, supply prices rule weak at quotations. Dealers are paying for baled Timothy, $20@22 50 ℔ ton; other descriptions, baled, [illegible] ℔ ton.

OATS—The supply is large but being very well concentrated dealers are enabled to obtain good rates for jobbing lots, although they are not offering over $2 25 ℔ cental, sacked.

General Merchandise.

LINSEED OIL—The market rules firm for California and Oregon in jobbing lots, at $1 05@1 10 per gallon. The Boston Shipping List of Dec. 20th, says: "The present advance in Linseed is attracting considerable attention, on account of the large supplies now and prospectively. It is conceded that the crop of Western is about 2,000,000 bushels, and the foreign import will exceed that of 1870, which will make a large excess over the supply of 1870. The imports already exceed those of 1870 about 100,000 bags. The stock now on hand and on the way from Calcutta, made up to the 15th of December amount to 464,000 bags, nearly a half year's consumption. Crushers in this city are turning out comparatively little Oil, and some of our mills are idle, while a few of the New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore Crushers are still using American Seed. The bulk of the Calcutta Linseed, however, is on the way to New York."

CONTEMPTIBLE!

THE POPULARITY WHICH THE OAHU BITTERS

Are rapidly acquiring has induced certain jealous parties [illegible]

in the darkness of [illegible]

Bitters with those of their own through the city.

All may see in this act the stooping attitude of a humbug.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Leg [illegible]

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, [illegible] facilities for the alleviation of [illegible] suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons both male and female, are there who are suffering [illegible] from the effects of secret indulgences or from [illegible] in the system [illegible] their pallid [illegible] forms, disqualifying them for the happiness of [illegible] or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation [illegible] the scene. Let guardians, friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies, see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his special study for years and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and strictly inquire, or you may fall into the hands of the charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal [illegible], the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confusion of ideas, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, [illegible] pimples and various eruptions about the [illegible] furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, [illegible] monomania and frequently insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by [illegible] of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering [illegible] any of these afflictions, should not [illegible] the [illegible] responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to [illegible] a written instrument, binding himself [illegible] a perfect and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin [illegible] letter [illegible] the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco [illegible] who, with bogus sworn-to certificates [illegible] some of the self-styled doctors, [illegible] found in the daily and weekly [illegible] San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen [illegible] lazy too work at their trades. Some are [illegible], makers, newspaper carriers, [illegible] etc. Look over the San Francisco [illegible] you will not find their Medical Institutes [illegible] will find their former occupations in its [illegible] Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them, until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting false titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.
